A MURDER IN MADRAS. (Madras Times, September 20th.)
The Artillery Barracks in Fort Saint George which it was used. Death was justantaneous, principle it has hitherto maintained in all its The medical officers residing in the Fort were Asiable and African dealings, and indeed in called in ; but life was extinct several minutes all dealings, with minor European Powers, before they viewed the body. The murderer namely, that the six Powers, as guardians according to law. It is remonred that some are abeir own interpreters of the code by dispute took place between the men during which justice is to be carried out. Of course breakfast; but of what nature is not known.

Meanwhile, the Washington Treaty got lack o Pekin to be ratified, and was received there with a somewhat unexpected amount of op-N. Patna N. Patna N. Benares N. Benares position. Perhaps Mr. Burlingame, in the generosity of his nature, bad over estimated the political prospects of General Fremont, whom he described in a speech in Paris as "waving the binner of our common country from the peaks of the Rocky Mountains in the face of the rising sun;" perhaps the Chinese Cabinet were not quite entisfied with the effect of their diplomacy in relieving them of their for ign incubus; or perhaps they were attacked with one of those fits of ultra Conservatism which affect them wherever they think they recommens. that the European prossure is becoming relaxed. Anyhow, they discussed and discussed, and iff he course of the discussions it came out, to the intense amusement of all the "Sinologues"the people who know Chinese, and think, therefore, that they only can by possibility know China-that the Regency had not given Mr. Burlingaine oreilentials to treat with Washington on equal terms, but had authorized him to visit certain tirbutary peoples, and make arrangements between them and their Suzerain in Pekin The incident, if true, is very characteristiculike of the Chinese, who even while drawcredited him, and of Mr. Burlingame, who of course, had hot an idea what his credentials contained but it is of no other moment. The Chinesy fould have accepted the treaty if they liked but they did not like, and at last they threw over their own Ambassador - just as they Rs. 43.70,550 threw over Captain Osborn and Mr. Lay-and refused to ratify the agreement formulizing their own proposals. At the same time, the having made himself acquainted with affice. amounced himself pleased with the refusal, declared the capitalations necessary, and stated ns the telegrams say, that "British policy." he which he means the policy of abstinctical from force, had failed. Both Washington and Fekin therefore repudiate the policy which was to have "commenced a new era in the intercourse between China and the world," the that Prince Kung and Mr. Seward were in perfect accord has failed, the bubble has 50 by the insiders to be all wrong. There is no special alliance between Washington and Bekin. there is no special amity even; above all, thereis no Protectorate, un i Chinese affairs are to be treated as if Femians could not menace raids on Montreal, and as if Mr. Clay were not dear to the soul of the Russian Crar. The result is not pleasant to us only because t fulfils our prediction, but because unv other: would have been productive of infinite missbief. Falschood nover makes a good basis for negatiation, and the assertion that China ought to be admitted into "the comity of nations" involved a falsehood. Nobody recognizes more fully than ourselves that Obina is in many respects a civilized empire; that it has, for instance, a regular and extremely powerful Government;" which is obeyed much more readily than it
